HURRICANE SEASON BEGINS JUNE 1

City is encouraging residents to make preparations now for another active hurricane season

Unless you're new to South Florida, you're familiar with the annual lead-up to hurricane season - which runs from June 1 through November 30. Each year we're bombarded with predictions from the experts, who often forecast frightening numbers of severe storms. While it's easy to be overwhelmed by the big picture they paint, it's more important to focus on the steps YOU can take to protect your own home and family.

As storm season approaches, there are three key activities to consider:

- 1 Develop a preparedness plan
- 2 Safeguard your home
- 3 Assemble a disaster kit

Step #1 - Develop a Preparedness Plan

Work with your family to create a preparedness plan that meets your unique needs. Topics to address include:

Communication. How will your family members reconnect if separated in an emergency? Consider choosing an out-of-area contact person you can all check in with. Carry wallet-size cards with your contact's name and phone number, so the information will always be handy. Who can you turn to locally for help? Develop a network of neighbors, friends, family and coworkers who you can rely on in an emergency.

Insurance. Is your property adequately insured against storm damage? Review your coverage annually, and take photos or video of your home and vehicles to document their condition and contents.

Supplies. Does your family have an ample emergency supply of food, water and other essentials? Review our checklist at right for tips on what to stock.

Step # 2 - Safeguard your Home

Hurricanes can cause severe damage. Before a hurricane hits, you should take steps to protect your property and lessen damages from hurricanes.

There are several credible sources of preparedness information on the Web. For detailed tips, try visiting:

City of Sunrise's Web site at www.sunrisefl.gov/hurricanesession.html

STEP #3 - DISASTER SUPPLY KIT

The most important thing that you can do is to be informed and prepared. With that in mind, all residents are encouraged to stock up on the following supplies at the start of hurricane season:

- Water. You should have at least one gallon per day per person for three to seven days.
- Food. Stock enough food for at least three to seven days. Your supply should include non-perishable packaged or canned food and juices; special foods for infants or elderly household members; snack foods; non-electric can opener; cooking tools and fuel; paper plates and plastic utensils.
- First Aid Kit.
- Prescription drugs, as well as necessary medicines. Pharmacies may be closed after the storm.
- Flashlight and batteries.
- Radio. Keep a battery operated radio on hand.
- Cash (with some small bills). Banks and ATMs may not be available for extended periods.
- Toys, books and games to keep children entertained.
- Pet care items.
